NEEDLE IN THE BONE
How a Holocaust Survivor and a Polish Resistance Fighter Beat the Odds and Found Each Other

BY CARYN MIRRIAM-GOLDBERG

The astonishing stories of Holocaust survivor Lou Frydman and former Polish resistance fighter Jarek Piekalkiewicz are brought to life in Needle in the Bone. As mere teenagers during World War II, the two men defied daunting odds, lost nearly everything and everyone in the war, and yet summoned the courage to start new lives in the United States.

Captured by the German army during the Warsaw Ghetto uprising, Frydman survived six concentration camps and three death marches. By the war's end, everyone in his extended family had been killed except for his brother. Piekalkiewicz started his own underground army at age sixteen. In addition, one of his uncles was the main leader and another the head treasurer for the Polish resistance before the Nazis discovered, tortured, and murdered them. After the war, Frydman and Piekalkiewicz began the long process of healing, taking different paths through the refugee camps of Europe, and then through education, marriage, and work, eventually leading them both to teaching positions at the University of Kansas, where they met in 1975. Recognizing the trauma and courage of each other's experiences, they became best friends, forming a lasting bond.

Needle in the Bone offers insight into the Holocaust and the Polish resistance by entwining the stories of these two survivors. By blending extensive interviews with Frydman and Piekalkiewicz, historical research, and the author's own responses and questions, this book provides a unique perspective on still compelling issues, including the meaning of the Holocaust, the nature of good and evil, and how people persevere in the face of unbearable pain and loss.

ABOUT THE AUTHOR

CARYN MIRRIAM-GOLDBERG (pictured here with Jarek Piekalkiewicz, left, and Lou Frydman, right) is the poet laureate of Kansas; the author of the novel The Divorce Girl (2012), the memoir The Sky Begins at Your Feet: A Memoir on Cancer, Community, and Coming Home to the Body (2009), and four collections of poetry; and the editor of numerous anthologies. A faculty member of Goddard College (she founded its Transformative Language Arts master's program in social and personal transformation through the written, spoken, and sung word), Mirriam-Goldberg also leads community writing workshops. She makes her home with her family near Lawrence, Kansas.

For more information, visit www.CarynMirriamGoldberg.com.

The author is available for interviews. If interested, please contact Laura Briggs at publicity@potomacbooksinc.com.
ADVANCE PRAISE FOR NEEDLE IN THE BONE

“Needle in the Bone is the powerful tale of two young men's courage, heroism, heartbreak, and survival during and after the Second World War. Both Poles, one man survived six concentration camps and three death marches, while the other was a Resistance fighter who, at age sixteen, commanded his own underground army of 100 men. Lovingly conceived, exhaustively researched, and beautifully written, this book is a magnificent achievement that not only provides important insights into the Holocaust and the Resistance, but also documents the indomitable will of two extraordinary men.”
—WILLIAM TUTTLE, author of “Daddy's Gone to War”: The Second World War in the Lives of America's Children

Rich in factual detail and personal revelations, Needle in Bone is an intimate portrait of two friends who witnessed unimaginable atrocities during the Holocaust, and, in later years, grabbed a good share of happiness. The author, a loving friend of both men and their wives, holds the reader spellbound as she elicits their indelible, horrific, and hope-inspiring stories. Caryn Mirriam-Goldberg's authentic emotional presence and self-disclosure ends up being a huge gift to her readers, and the book is a valuable, highly personal, contribution to the literature on Holocaust history.

“Needle in the Bone is a compelling, story of two Poles—a Jewish resister who survived the Warsaw Ghetto, Auschwitz, and other Nazi atrocities, and an Underground fighter who fought and survived the Nazi regime. Author Caryn Mirriam-Goldberg weaves in her own story as a Jewish American, adding valuable context and insights into the lives and experiences of Lou Frydman and Jarek Piekalkiewicz. Mirriam-Goldberg, a skilled interviewer, draws out their life stories, and that of their wives, Jane Frydman and Maura Piekalkiewicz. The two couples paths cross on a Fulbright in Poland, and they return to Kansas, becoming close friends and entwining their lives.In the hands of the author, we come to know the Frydmans and Piekalkiewiczs, and to better understand America and ourselves as Mirriam-Goldberg reflects on their lives, her own life, and the America in which the two couples live.It is a very American story of survival, new beginnings, hope and laughter in the face of horror, and faith in human goodness. You can't resist liking and caring about Lou and Jane, Jarek and Maura, and Caryn Miriam-Goldberg.”
—DAVID KATZMAN, Professor Emeritus of American Studies, University of Kansas

“With a poet's eye for beauty among the ruins, Caryn Miriam-Goldberg has crafted a contemporary tale of two different men with a history of woe in common. A welcome addition to literature about the Holocaust, and a reminder that good sometimes does survive and prosper.”
—LEONARD ZESKIND, author of Blood and Politics: The History of the White Nationalist Movement from the Margins to the Mainstream